

Cambridge Professional Development Pricing – North America

1 August 2025 thru 31 July 2026

We believe that supporting teachers in their professional development leads to improved outcomes for learners. Good quality professional development and reflective practice are essential parts of a teacher's professional life. We offer a range of different professional development opportunities for teachers at all stages of their professional journey, so you can find something that meets your needs.

Our courses are available in three different formats:

- online courses that you can access at any time. These courses 3 to 5 weeks in duration.
- live virtual courses. These courses consist of 1 to 4 sessions that are ~3 hours in duration.
- face-to-face courses. These courses are 2 days in duration.

Open courses are available for booking by any Cambridge teacher, and can be booked via the Professional Development Calendar. Please contact Customer Support if you need assistance making a booking.

Private courses are closed to the requesting school or district. These events are not advertised on the public website. Capacity is 30 people per course.

Schools and districts in North America can request open or private training to be held at their facilities. To request any Cambridge professional development courses, please complete this form and our team will respond with options and pricing.

What a Cambridge Classroom Looks Like

This 4-hour course introduces four key approaches which are the foundations of a Cambridge classroom: active learning, assessment for learning, metacognition, and inclusion. Explore what these approaches look like in practice and start building a practical toolkit of strategies.

Enrichment courses

Our Enrichment Professional Development is perfect for teachers and school leaders who want to transform their approach to teaching.

We design our Enrichment courses to be dynamic and engaging. Our experienced trainers encourage teachers and leaders to reflect on their professional practice and help them to develop practical strategies they can use in their schools. Participants are also encouraged to share ideas and learn from other members of the Cambridge International community.

Each course focuses on a specific skill or concept in teaching and learning. For example:

- Active Learning and Assessment for Learning
- Metacognition: Boosting Students' Learning
- Effective Talk and Questioning
- Responsive Education for All Learners

Some courses also concentrate on a particular subject or syllabus. More information can be found on our website.
